

City of Alexandria, Virginia

MEMORANDUM

DATE: APRIL 4, 2005
TO: THE HONORABLE MAYOR AND MEMBERS OF CITY COUNCIL
FROM: JAMES K. HARTMANN, CITY MANAGER
SUBJECT: PROPOSAL TO INCREASE REAL ESTATE TAX RELIEF FOR SENIOR, DISABLED AND LIMITED INCOME RESIDENTS

ISSUE: Consideration of proposals to increase the benefits in the real estate tax relief and affordable home ownership preservation programs.

RECOMMENDATION: That City Council pass the proposed ordinance on first reading, schedule it for public hearing on April 26, and second reading and then final passage on May 2, 2005. The proposed increases in benefits and changes to these programs are:

I. Senior and Disabled Tax Relief

- A. Persons who reach 65 years of age during the tax year be eligible for a prorated exemption and/or deferral of real estate taxes for the portion of the tax year such person is 65 years of age, and
- B. Up to $10,000 of the income of any relative residing in the home who is not the spouse be excluded from the total combined household income used to determine the applicant's eligibility for an exemption and/or deferral from real estate taxes. The current limit is $8,500.

II. Affordable Home Ownership Preservation

- A. Increase the maximum assessed value of the real estate owned by the applicant from $362,000 to $442,000; and
- B. Increase the value of the grants-in-aid provided to eligible homeowners from $250 to:
 - (1) $675 when the total combined income of the eligible homeowners does not exceed $40,000,
 - (2) $475 when the total combined income of the applicant exceeds $40,000 but does not exceed $50,000, and

- (3) $275 when the total combined income of the applicant exceeds $50,000 but does not exceed $62,000.

DISCUSSION: At the March 15 and 29 budget work sessions staff presented various tax relief options to Council in addition to the at least 8-cent real estate tax rate reduction planned by Council. The two targeted tax relief options Council directed staff to bring forward for acknowledgment includes benefit and eligibility expansion options within (1) the long standing program of Real Estate Tax Relief for the Elderly or Permanently and Totally Disabled, and (2) in the (new in 2004) Affordable Home Ownership Preservation program. Changes to those programs are described below.

Senior and Disabled Tax Relief: Under the City's current real estate tax relief program for the elderly or permanently and totally disabled, applicants must be at least 65 years of age or permanently and totally disabled on or before January 1 of the current tax year to qualify for real estate tax relief. In response to taxpayer and Councilman Macdonald's inquiries that relate to this program, the Finance Department has reviewed the applicable law that governs real estate tax relief and reports that state law provides that "any locality may by ordinance provide a prorated exemption or deferral for the portion of the taxable year during which the taxpayer qualified for such exemption or deferral."

Many citizens experience a decrease in income upon retirement and those who retire at age 65 during the current tax year must also often contend with an increased real estate tax bill due to rising property values. Providing prorated real estate tax relief for those who reach the age of 65 during the current tax year is not expected to have a noticeable impact on program costs and will provide a substantial benefit to this particular group of citizens. The proposed tax ordinance would be retroactive effective to January 1, 2005, so anyone who turned 65 on or after January 1 of this year will automatically qualify for prorated relief for this year's real estate taxes.

Currently, all citizens requesting real estate tax relief are required to file an affidavit, statement or certification by no later than April 15 of the tax year to qualify under the program. Citizens who file an affidavit, statement or certification after April 15 but before November 15 may be declared eligible to apply provided good cause is shown for the failure to file on or before April 15. It is recommended that this deadline and deadline exception policy also apply to those who turn 65 during the course of a calendar year.

State law also now provides that in determining total combined household income for real estate tax relief, local jurisdictions may exclude up to $10,000 of income for any relative who is not the spouse residing in the property. The current City ordinance limits this exclusion to $8,500. Historically, there have been no more than two applicants each year who did not qualify for real estate tax relief due to the income of other relatives residing in the home. Increasing the City's income exclusion for relatives residing in the home to the State maximum is not expected to impact program costs but will facilitate extending tax relief, or enabling a greater amount of relief, to those applicants who share their residence with other non-spouse family members.

Affordable Home Ownership Preservation Program: As part of the FY 2005 budget, to mitigate rising real estate taxes due to significant increases in real property appreciation, Council approved the Affordable Home Ownership Preservation program (AHOP) to provide a $250 grant-in-aid as a credit on the real estate tax billing to certain homeowners. This was the first program of its kind in Virginia. In tax year 2004, 659 homeowners received some $200,000 worth of tax relief.

For FY 2006 it is recommend that a sliding scale of tax credits be established based on income, providing up to $675 in tax relief to those residents earning $40,000 or less per year, $475 for those residents earning above $40,000 but not in excess of $50,000, and $275 for those earning above $50,000 but not in excess of $62,000. Also, the limit on the value of the property is proposed to increase to $442,000 to reflect the increase in the average assessed value of homes in the City. Participation is expected to double as a result of the new parameters.

At the current advertised tax rate of $0.915, prior to the application of the AHOP grant the owner of an average residential property assessed at $442,000 would see an increase in their tax bill of $418. Through the Affordable Home Ownership Preservation Grant Program, eligible residents with income of less than $40,000 will realize no increase in their real estate tax bill compared to last year, as the credit is proposed to increase by $425 from $250 to $675. The recommended grant amounts are each $175 less than in the proposed budget to reflect the fact that City Council will be reducing the real estate tax rate by at least 8 cents.

The program will continue to be administered by the Finance Department, which also administers the Real Estate Tax Relief for the Elderly and Disabled Program. Information describing changes to the program will be provided to the public through various means similar to those used to advertise the Real Estate Tax Relief for the Elderly and Disabled Program. In addition, a flyer describing the AHOP program will be mailed to all homeowners of property valued at $442,000 or less. Applications for the grant will be available online and can also be mailed to homeowners who call the Finance Department to inquire about the program.

The Finance Department will accept AHOP applications for the grant until September 1, 2005. In order to allow sufficient time for filing an application processing, the grant will be credited on the real estate tax bills due November 15, 2005. As was the case last year, the tax bill due June 15 will need to be paid in full even if the taxpayer meets the qualification and has filed an application prior to June 15, 2005.

The following other program criteria would remain unchanged for FY 2006:

- A. The total annual income of the resident or homeowners (and any income of an owner's relatives, including any spouse, who reside in the home, but are not owners) may not exceed $62,000 for the calendar year prior to the date of filing the applications.

B. The total assets of the resident homeowner or homeowners (and resident, non-owner relatives including any spouse), excluding the value of the house and property, vehicles and assets in qualified retirement plans may not exceed $50,000.

C. The applicant must own all or at least 50 percent of the property.

FISCAL IMPACT: It is not anticipated that these changes to the Senior and Disabled Tax Relief program will have a noticeable impact on program costs. Each year, fewer than two applicants do not qualify for tax relief either because they were not 65 years of age on January 1 or due to the income of other relatives residing in the property. It is likely that some citizens familiar with program requirements would not submit an application if they did not feel certain they would qualify. There have been minimal inquiries received from citizens who would not qualify for these reasons and are not familiar with the program. The total cost of the Senior and Disabled Tax Relief program is now estimated at $2.5 million for 2005, which is a decrease of $200,000 due to the additional real estate tax rate reduction of at least 4 cents.

Staff estimates that the cost of the AHOP program will be approximately $750,000. This assumes that the new sliding scale and increased available grant amounts will result in 1,300 participants, twice the number as last year. The AHOP cost is estimated at $750,000, or $250,000 less than the estimate contained in the original budget due to the decrease in the proposed grant amounts.

INFORMATION ON PROPOSED ORDINANCE

Title

AN ORDINANCE to amend and reordain Article L (REAL ESTATE TAX RELIEF), of Chapter 2 (TAXATION), Title 3 (FINANCE, TAXATION AND PROCUREMENT) of The Code of the City of Alexandria, Virginia, 1981, as amended.

Summary

The proposed ordinance increases the City's residential real estate tax relief program for elderly or disabled residents, by providing a prorated exemption or deferral for residents who become 65 or disabled during a tax year, and increases the maximum household income limit for eligible households by increasing to $10,000 the amount of income of each relative in the household which is excluded in calculating household income. In addition, the proposed ordinance increases the City's Affordable Home Ownership Preservation (AHOP) program for owner/occupants with limited incomes, but who are not elderly or disabled, by increasing the maximum grant to be applied against the resident's real estate tax bill to $275, 475 or $675, depending on household income, and increasing the maximum assessed value of an eligible residence to $442,000. The terms and conditions of these programs are subject to amendment by the City Council during the process for adopting this ordinance.

 - 38 (9) such additional information as the city manager reasonably determines to be
39 necessary to determine eligibility for exemption or deferral of real estate taxes
40 pursuant to this division.
41

- 1 (b) If, after audit and investigation, the city manager determines that the applicant is 2 eligible for an exemption or deferral, the manager shall so certify to the director, who
3 shall deduct the amount of the exemption from the applicant's real estate tax liability
4 or defer such tax liability as herein provided.
5
- 6 (c) Any provision of this division to the contrary notwithstanding, the director may 7 declare eligible to apply for an exemption or deferral any person filing the affidavit
8 or written statement required by subsection (a), or the written certification required
9 by subsection (f), after April 15 but before November 15 of the taxable year,

12
- 13 (d) Any applicant under 65 years of age claiming an exemption or deferral on the basis

27 subsection (a) or (f).
28
- 29 (f) For each taxable year as to which an affidavit or written statement is not required by 30 subsection (a), the applicant shall file with the city manager, not later than April 15, a
31 written certification, on forms to be supplied by the city, in which the applicant states
32 that the information contained in the applicant's last filed affidavit or written
33 statement has not changed in a manner which affects either the applicant's eligibility
34 for an exemption or deferral under this division or the amount of the exemption or 35 deferral. In the event that the information in the last filed affidavit or statement has 36 changed in such a manner, the applicant shall file a new affidavit or written statement
37 pursuant to subsection (a).
38

39 Sec. 3-2-166 Same--calculation of amount; limitation.
40

- 41 (a) The exemption from or deferral of real estate taxes granted under this division for 42 any taxable year shall be limited and calculated as follows:
43

- 1 (1) when the total combined income of the applicant does not exceed $40,000, the
2 applicant shall be exempt from the taxes owed for the year;
3
- 4 (2) when the total combined income of the applicant exceeds $40,000 but does not
5 exceed $50,000, the applicant shall be exempt from 50 percent of the taxes owed for
6 the year, and may defer all or part of the amount of such taxes in excess of the 7 amount exempted; and
8
- 9 (3) when the total combined income of the applicant exceeds $50,000 but does not
10 exceed $62,000, the applicant shall be exempt from 25 percent of the taxes owed for
11 the year, and may defer all or part of the amount of such taxes in excess of the
12 amount exempted
13
- 14 (b) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (a) above, if the real estate identified in 15 the affidavit or written statement filed under section 3-2-165 is not owned solely by 16 the applicant and his or her spouse, the amount of the tax exemption or deferral shall
17 be the amount of the taxes on the real estate for the taxable year times the percentage
18 ownership interest in the real estate held by the applicant, or by the applicant and his
19 or her spouse.
20
- 21 (c) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (a) above, if an applicant becomes 22 eligible for exemption or deferral of real estate taxes owed during the course of the 23 taxable year, the amount of the exemption or deferral computed under subsection (a)
24 shall be reduced by one-twelfth of such amount for each full calendar month of the 25 taxable year during which month such applicant is not eligible for exemption or 26 deferral.
27

28 Sec. 3-2-167 Change in status.
29

- 30 (a) Changes in income, financial worth, ownership of property or other factors occurring
31 during the taxable year for which an affidavit or written statement, or a written
32 certification, is filed and causing any of the restrictions, limitations or conditions
33 provided in this division to be exceeded or violated shall nullify any exemption or
34 deferral for the remainder of the then current taxable year and the taxable year
35 immediately following, with the applicant receiving a prorated exemption or deferral
36 for the portion of the taxable year during which the applicant qualified for such 37 exemption or deferral.
38
- 39 (b) The transfer of ownership of the property from a qualifying spouse to a spouse who 40 is less than 65 years of age and not permanently and totally disabled, when such
41 transfer results solely from the death of the qualifying spouse, shall result in a
42 prorated exemption or deferral for the then current taxable year. Such prorated
43 exemption or deferral shall be determined by multiplying the amount of the 44 exemption or deferral granted the qualifying spouse by a fraction in which the

1 number of complete months of the year such property was properly eligible for such
2 exemption or deferral is the numerator and the number 12 is the denominator.

3
4 Sec. 3-2-168 Penalty for violation of division.

5
6 Any person wilfully making a false statement in claiming an exemption or deferral of real
7 estate taxes under this division shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction thereof,
8 shall be fined not less than $25 nor more than $500 for each offense.
