ISSUE: Appeal of a decision of the Board of Architectural Review, Old & Historic Alexandria District denying an after-the-fact Certificate of Appropriateness for painting previously unpainted masonry

APPELLANT: Linda Cole, owner

LOCATION: 727 South Pitt Street

ZONE: RM/Residential

727 SOUTH PITT STREET

I. EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

- The appellant is requesting after-the-fact approval to paint previously unpainted brick masonry on her house. The appellant has recently painted the front elevation of the house and is proposing to paint the rear elevation.
- The two story brick dwelling at 727 S. Pitt Street was constructed around 1941 as part of the Yates Gardens development.
- As part of the original development scheme of Yates Gardens, some of the brick buildings were painted. However, in a large number of instances, the brick houses were meant to remain unpainted. The house at 727 S. Pitt Street was one of these and remained unpainted until this year.
- Section 10-109 of the zoning ordinance permits maintenance of architectural features of properties in the historic district. However, subsection (B)(4) says that “the painting of a masonry building which was unpainted prior to such painting shall be considered to be the removal of an exterior feature having historic and/or architectural significance requiring a certificate of appropriateness.”
- The Design Guidelines adopted by the Boards of Architectural Review in 1993, state: “the Boards strongly discourage the painting of a previously unpainted masonry surface.”
- In the review of this case, the staff recommended and the Board agreed to deny the application to paint the previously unpainted brick masonry at 727 S. Pitt Street.
- Staff recommends that City Council support the decision of the Board of Architectural Review and deny the after-the-fact Certificate of Appropriateness for painting previously unpainted masonry. Further, it is recommended that the appellant be directed to remove the paint that has been applied to the front of the house within 90 days.

II. BACKGROUND

The two story brick dwelling at 727 South Pitt Street was constructed around 1941 as part of the Yates Gardens development. Since it was built, the house had an exterior of unpainted brick. Sometime this year the appellant painted the front of the house.

As a result of a complaint, the staff sent a letter to the appellant on May 6, 2005 citing Section 10-109(B)(4) of the zoning ordinance that states:

The painting of a masonry building which was unpainted prior to such painting shall be considered to be the removal of an exterior feature having historic and/or architectural significance requiring a certificate of appropriateness.

The appellant says that she did not know that she needed approval to paint her house. An historic district brochure that is mailed with an annual letter to all residents of the historic districts makes it clear that previously unpainted masonry surfaces require Board review before painting.

The appellant submitted an after-the-fact request for a certificate of appropriateness on May 31, 2005 to the Old & Historic Board of Architectural Review for approval to paint the previously unpainted brick masonry on the front of her house. In addition, the appellant asked to be allowed to paint the rear elevation.

At a public hearing on September 7, 2005, the Board denied the application for an after-the-fact Certificate of Appropriateness. In addition, the Board directed the appellant to remove the paint that has been applied to the front of the building within 90 days. The vote was 5-0.

III. DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

The Design Guidelines, adopted by the Boards of Architectural Review in 1993, are explicit on the issue of painting unpainted masonry. They state that “as a general rule, brick and masonry buildings should not be painted” and that “the Boards strongly discourage the painting of a previously unpainted masonry surface.” Underlying this principle is the belief that red brick buildings are one of the chief distinguishing characteristics of the historic district.

The Board has reviewed several after-the-fact requests for painting previously unpainted masonry. Most recently, the Board reviewed a case for 715 Princess Street where all but one side of the building had been previously painted at least twenty years earlier. The Board approved the after-the-fact painting of the remaining wall (BAR Case #2005-0100, 5/18/05). In this case, not knowing how long the rest of the building had been painted and for what reason, there was concern that removing the paint on 90% of the building could result in harm to the brick.

In several other cases, the Board has denied the painting and ordered that the paint be removed. Examples of this include 305 Duke Street. (BAR Case #2002-0140, 6/19/02), 428 S Washington Street (BAR Case # 2001-00312, 1/16/02), and 629 South Fairfax Street (BAR Case #98-0093, 6/17/8).

In a similar case on painting masonry in 1996, just a few doors away at 733 South Pitt Street, on appeal the City Council agreed with the Board and denied an application for a Certificate of Appropriateness for painting unpainted brick masonry.

Generally in cases where Staff supports and the Board has agreed about the painting of masonry, there have either been substantial alterations to the building or the brick is mismatched or of poor quality. The majority of the houses on this block face are unpainted. Staff notes that at the time of construction, select houses within the Yates Gardens development were painted white. In this case, the building at 727 South Pitt Street was not one of the original painted buildings and was not intended to be painted.

IV. RECOMMENDATION

Staff recommends that the Council support the decision of the Board of Architectural Review and deny an after-the-fact Certificate of Appropriateness for painting previously unpainted masonry.

I. ISSUE:

The applicant is requesting after-the-fact approval of a Certificate of Appropriateness for painting previously unpainted masonry at 727 South Pitt Street. The applicant has recently painted the front elevation of the house and is also proposing to paint the rear elevation.

II. HISTORY:

The two story brick dwelling at 727 South Pitt Street was constructed around 1941 as part of the Yates Gardens development.

III. ANALYSIS:

This application is before the Board as a result of a citation issued by Staff for painting the unpainted brick on the building.

The Design Guidelines are explicit on the issue of painting unpainted masonry. They state that “as a general rule, brick and masonry buildings should not be painted” and that “the Boards strongly discourage the painting of a previously unpainted masonry surface.” Underlying this principle is the belief that red brick buildings are one of the chief distinguishing characteristics of the historic district.

IV. STAFF RECOMMENDATION:

Therefore, Staff recommends denial of the application with the additional direction to the applicant to remove the paint that has been applied to the building within 90 days.
