MEMORANDUM

DATE: FEBRUARY 27, 2012

TO: THE HONORABLE MAYOR AND MEMBERS OF CITY COUNCIL

FROM: RASHAD M. YOUNG, CITY MANAGER

SUBJECT: RECOMMENDATIONS AND STATUS REPORT (NO. 3) ON LEGISLATION INTRODUCED AT THE 2012 GENERAL ASSEMBLY SESSION

ISSUE: Recommendations and status report (No. 3) on legislation introduced at the 2012 General Assembly Session.

RECOMMENDATION: That City Council approve the positions on the State budget that are included in Attachment 1 (Recommended Positions on Budget Amendments), as recommended by City Council’s Legislative Subcommittee (Vice Mayor Donley and Councilman Smedberg).

DISCUSSION: The 2012 General Assembly Session has now passed the halfway mark. As of Wednesday, February 15, the House may consider only Senate bills, and the Senate may consider only House bills. Committee action must be completed on all bills by March 5, and adjournment is scheduled for March 10. As discussed below, it is uncertain whether the General Assembly will approve a budget before the scheduled end of the Session.

City Package. The following are bills from the City's legislative package that the City asked members of the City's delegation to introduce or support (Attachment 2 is a status report on "City Package" bills):

- A number of bills were introduced in both the House and the Senate to change state law regarding the opening day of school. The Senate Education and Health Committee, on a vote of 9-6, defeated its proposals (including Senator Ebbin's SB 257) that would have allowed each local school board to determine the opening day of school. The House passed a bill (HB 1063), which is now before the Senate Education and Health Committee. At least two members of that Committee will have to reverse their earlier votes for the House bill to go to the Senate floor.

- SB 261, introduced by Senator Ebbin, seeks to create a grant program to improve preschool programs, using unused moneys that have been appropriated to the Virginia Preschool Initiative. SB 261 has been approved by the Senate and has been assigned to the House Appropriations Committee. HB 144, a similar bill introduced by Delegate David Englin, was defeated in the House Appropriations Committee several weeks ago.
· HB 894 and SB 493 are identical bills that direct the State Corporation Commission to evaluate potential energy saving and conservation projects based on the total energy savings and return on investment they create for the entire state. These bills have passed both the House and Senate.

· SB 263 (Ebbin), which would have prohibited discrimination against public employees based on sexual orientation, was defeated.

· HB 1099 (Delegate Herring) would amend the Virginia Human Rights Act to prohibit discriminatory actions with respect to hiring or the terms and conditions of employment; and prohibit the various types of employment discrimination, including age discrimination, for any employer with five or more employees. The bill was defeated.

· HB 1027 would allow two or more localities to enact a new 2.1 percent motor fuels tax to pay for the construction and operation of one or more high capacity transit lines. HJ 146 (Delegate Herring) and SJ 52 (Senator Ebbin) ask the Commonwealth Transportation Board to make high capacity transit a priority for funding by the Commonwealth. All three measures were defeated.

· Budget proposals from the City Package are addressed below, in the discussion of amendments to the State budget (including Attachment 4).

Attachment 3 is a status report on other bills on which the City has taken a position.

Eminent Domain. Legislation to continue the effort to amend Virginia’s Constitution with respect to eminent domain has passed both the House and Senate, and will now go on the November ballot for voter approval.

Companion bills are also making their way through the House and Senate to define lost access and lost profits, and establish the framework for determining their value. This legislation will become effective January 1, 2013, if the constitutional amendment is approved.

Lost access is defined as a loss of direct access to property if a portion of the property has been taken or damaged. If a property owner’s experience is the same as that of the general public with respect to lost access resulting from the locality’s exercise of its police power (e.g., left turns at an intersection are prohibited, where they were formerly allowed), the property owner will not be compensated for this loss.

Lost profit is defined as a loss of business profits, using generally accepted accounting principles, for up to three years, as a result of the taking of a property, and the business is owned by the property owner, or by a tenant whose lease gives him exclusive possession of substantially all the property taken. Business profits are defined as the net income for federal tax purposes. Loss of profits does not have to be compensated if the loss can be prevented by the relocation of the business; or if the owner can take steps that a reasonable person would take to prevent the loss.

Regional Transportation Governance. Bills that were introduced in both houses on behalf of the Governor to combine the Northern Virginia Transportation Authority (NVTA) and the Northern Virginia Transportation Commission (NVTC) have been substantially modified. Both measures proposed major governmental reorganizations, of which the NVTA/NVTC merger was but a small part. Northern Virginia localities, including Alexandria, have opposed similar proposals in the past.

What is likely to be enacted in place of the immediate NVTA-NVTC merger is legislation that will require the Northern Virginia Transportation Authority, the Northern Virginia Transportation Commission, and the Northern Virginia Regional Commission to develop a plan that will consolidate transportation planning and policy making, and consolidate these three agencies into one or two. The plan, and a timetable for its implementation, will be required to be submitted to the General Assembly by December 1, 2012. Other entities affected by the plan (e.g., the Secretary of Transportation and the Director of the Department of Rail and Public Transportation) will be involved in its development. The advantages and disadvantages of creating a sub-regional metropolitan (transportation) planning organization (the Council of Governments now serves this purpose for the DC region) must also be addressed as a part of this study.

Legislation (HB 601) to set qualifications and requirements for persons appointed to the WMATA Board has passed the House and is now before the Senate Committee on Local Government.

Transportation Funding. The House and Senate continue to be far apart on issues of transportation funding. The House continues to pursue a diversion of sales tax and other revenues from the general fund to the Transportation Trust Fund. The Senate believes that there is not sufficient general fund revenue to use a portion of it for transportation without harming general fund programs, such as education, public safety, and mental health. It has proposed indexing the gasoline tax as a means of increasing funds for transportation.

Delegate Vivian Watts (Fairfax) recently made a presentation to the Northern Virginia legislative delegation on transportation funding. She noted that if the House proposal were passed, Northern Virginia would provide 34 percent of the sales tax revenue, but get only 7 percent of the transportation spending. This compares to the 19 percent of transportation spending that goes to Northern Virginia when the distribution is made through the existing statutory formula (Attachment 4).

The House and Senate bills will likely be sent to a conference committee. There would also need to be a provision included in the budget if sales tax revenue is to be shifted from the general fund to the Transportation Trust Fund.
State Budget. The House Appropriations and Senate Finance Committees made their budget recommendations on February 19. The House Appropriations recommendations, with a few changes, were adopted by the full House. The Senate adopted its Finance Committee recommendations. The Senate was unable to pass the budget, since only 20 Senators voted for the budget, and 21 must support it to pass. Senate Democrats refused to support the budget until changes are made to the makeup of several Senate committees, to provide additional seats for the Democrats. (This is a continuing point of contention between Senate Democrats and Republicans that goes back to the first day of Session.)

The House Budget will now go to the Senate, where there is likely to be another stalemate, with the Republicans unlikely to get the necessary 21 votes. Since the Senate did not pass a budget, it had nothing to send to the House. If the Senate stalemate continues, the General Assembly may leave town with no budget. Among other things, this would make it difficult for local governments to adopt their FY 2013 budgets, since they would not know how much state aid to assume. The State needs a budget by June 30, since all appropriations cease at that time (the Governor could likely use emergency powers to continue some needed services, but this would not be a situation anyone would like, and it would probably result in the shutdown of many State [and some local] government functions). Staff has no way to predict when a budget will be enacted.

Attachment 1 is a chart showing budget recommendations from the Governor, the House, and the Senate (using the Senate’s amended but unapproved budget), together with recommendations on the amendments by City Council’s Legislative Subcommittee. (Note that funding for teen pregnancy was not included in either the House or Senate proposals, so it will not be in the final budget.)

As noted in Attachment 1, the House and Senate make different recommendations on funding K-12 education. In general, the Senate recommendations are more generous.

- The Senate provides a total of $33.7 M to Alexandria City Public Schools, while the House total is $33 M. (Both these totals include funding for the Virginia Preschool Initiative.) The Governor had proposed a total of $32.8 M.
- The Senate fully restored the Cost of Competing funds for Northern Virginia, which the Governor had significantly reduced; this added approximately $528 K to ACPS funding. The House restored about a third of this (approximately $175 K). The Cost of Competing funds are included in the total funds shown in the first bullet (above).
- The Senate funds the Virginia Preschool Initiative (VPI) at $6,800/student, while the House funds it at $6,000/student. Some of the City’s VPI appropriation is used by ACPS.
- The House also sets a lower VRS rate for teachers than does the Senate (it makes a direct State payment to VRS to make up the difference). This should result in some additional savings to ACPS, although staff cannot determine the specific amount.

Virginia Retirement System (VRS). The General Assembly is still considering the four VRS bills reviewed in the last staff memo. SB 497 would require (1) local government and school employees to pay the five percent employee contribution to VRS; and (2) the employer to give a salary increase of at least the same amount. SB 498 would create a new optional hybrid retirement plan, including defined benefit and defined contribution components, for most new VRS-covered employees. HB 1129 would make changes to the current defined benefit plan for Pre-2010 (Plan 1) employees, including a lengthier period of for calculation of average final pay; smaller COLAs for retirees; and a reduction in the multiplier (the percentage of average salary multiplied by years of service to determine retirement benefits). HB 1130 would create an optional hybrid plan, but the plan would not be available to local employees or teachers.

¹ The House pays back some of the VRS money for teachers that the State underpaid last biennium, and requires no local match; this appears to lower the VRS payment that will be required of Alexandria City Public Schools by an undetermined amount. The Senate provides some funding to help local schools with their VRS pay-backs.

HB 312 Electric and natural gas utilities; energy efficiency programs.
Patron: Ware, R.L.
Summary as introduced: Utility energy efficiency programs. Provides that an energy efficiency program proposed by an electric utility is in the public interest if the net present value of the benefits exceeds the net present value of the costs as determined by any three of four benefit cost tests. The four tests to be considered are the Total Resource Cost Test, the Utility Cost Test (also referred to as the Program Administrator Test), the Participant Test, and the Ratepayer Impact Measure Test. An electric utility’s energy efficiency program may be deemed to be in the public interest if it provides measurable and verifiable energy savings to low-income customers or elderly customers. The current standard for what constitutes a cost-effective conservation and energy efficiency program conducted by a natural gas utility is revised to conform to these new provisions for electric utilities. Finally, the measure expands the definition of "energy efficiency program" with regard to electric utilities to include customer engagement programs that result in measurable and verifiable energy savings that lead to efficient use patterns and practices.

HJ 3 Constitutional amendment; taking or damaging of private property for public use (second reference).
Patrons: Bell, Robert B., Byron, Cole, Head, Helsel, Hodges, Landes, O'Bannon, Ramadan, Scott, E.T., Ware, R.L., Webert and Wilt
Summary as introduced: Constitutional amendment (second resolution); taking or damaging of private property; public use. Revises the prohibition on the enactment by the General Assembly of laws whereby private property may be taken or damaged. An existing provision authorizing the General Assembly to define what constitutes a public use is removed. The proposed amendment provides that private property can be taken or damaged only for a public use, only with just compensation to the owner, and only so much taken as is necessary for the public use. Just compensation must equal or exceed the value of the property taken, lost profits and lost access, and damages to the residue caused by the taking. A public service company, public service corporation, or railroad exercises the power of eminent domain for public use when such exercise is for the authorized provision of utility, common carrier, or railroad services. In all other cases, a taking or damaging of private property is not for public use if the primary use is for private gain, private benefit, private enterprise, increasing jobs, increasing tax revenue, or economic development, except for the elimination of a public nuisance existing on the property. The condemnor bears the burden of proving that the use is public, without a presumption that it is.

SB 493 Electric and natural gas utilities; energy efficiency programs.
Patrons: Watkins and Puckett
Summary as passed Senate:
Utility energy efficiency programs. Provides that an energy efficiency program proposed by an electric utility is in the public interest if among other factors, the net present value of the benefits exceeds the net present value of the costs as determined by the Commission upon consideration of the following four tests: (i) the Total Resource Cost Test; (ii) the Utility Cost Test (also referred to as the Program Administrator Test); (iii) the Participant Test; and (iv) the Ratepayer Impact Measure Test. The Commission's determination shall include an analysis of all four tests, and a program or portfolio of programs shall not be rejected based solely on the results of a single test. An electric utility's energy efficiency program may be deemed to be in the public interest if it provides measurable and verifiable energy savings to low-income customers or elderly customers. The current standard for what constitutes a cost-effective conservation and energy efficiency program conducted by a natural gas utility is revised to conform to these new provisions for electric utilities. Finally, the measure expands the definition of "energy efficiency program" with regard to electric utilities to include customer engagement programs that result in measurable and verifiable energy savings that lead to efficient use patterns and practices.

SJ 3 Constitutional amendment; taking or damaging of private property for public use (second reference).
Patrons: Obenshain, Deeds, McDougle, Black, Carrico, Garrett, McWaters, Newman, Reeves, Ruff, Smith, Stanley and Stuart; Delegate: Cole
Summary as passed Senate:
Constitutional amendment (second resolution); taking or damaging of private property; public use. Revises the prohibition on the enactment by the General Assembly of laws whereby private property may be taken or damaged. An existing provision authorizing the General Assembly to define what constitutes a public use is removed. The proposed amendment provides that private property can be taken or damaged only for a public use, only with just compensation to the owner, and only so much taken as is necessary for the public use. Just compensation must equal or exceed the value of the property taken, lost profits and lost access, and damages to the residue caused by the taking. A public service company, public service corporation, or railroad exercises the power of eminent domain for public use when such exercise is for the authorized provision of utility, common carrier, or railroad services. In all other cases, a taking or damaging of private property is not for public use if the primary use is for private gain, private benefit, private enterprise, increasing jobs, increasing tax revenue, or economic development, except for the elimination of a public nuisance existing on the property. The condemnor bears the burden of proving that the use is public, without a presumption that it is. The Resolution incorporates SJR 67 and SJR 117.

SB 162 Fuels taxes; indexing of tax rates.
Patron: Petersen
Summary as introduced:
Fuels taxes; indexing of tax rates. Increases or decreases each year the rates of Virginia's fuels taxes using a fuel efficiency index. The bill would define the fuel efficiency index as the quotient that is obtained when using as the numerator the total annual vehicle miles traveled in the Commonwealth for the relevant year and using as the denominator the total gallons of motor fuel consumed for highway use in the Commonwealth for the relevant year. The numerator and denominator would be the corresponding amounts as published by the Federal Highway Administration of the United States Department of Transportation.

The bill would establish 2007 as the base year for the fuel efficiency index. Thus, the percentage change in the fuel efficiency index between the current year and 2007, the base year, would determine the annual percentage increase or decrease in the rates of Virginia's fuels taxes. Each December the Commissioner of the Department of Motor Vehicles would compute the adjusted rates of fuels taxes.

Currently, Virginia's fuels taxes are fixed at the rate of $0.175 per gallon for each gallon of gasoline, gasohol, and diesel fuel.

This bill was incorporated into SB 631.
